Office of Sup. School Committee, Rochester, N. H. Feb. 25, 1861.

The Superintending School Committee of Rochester, having attended to the duties of their office, beg leave to present the following #### REPORT.

The number of School Districts in town is 20; the number of schools is 23, there being five schools in the Plains district, and one in each of the others, except District No. 16, which is united to Milton. In each of the districts under our superintendence, there has been the usual length of schooling, there having been two terms in each district. The general character of the schools has been about on an average with the schools usually, under our system of school regulations, -some very good, some fair, some moderate, and some decidedly poor. And your Committee see not how it can be much, if any, different, under the system. What they mean is that the system of having a Prudential Committee to engage and employ teachers, without much, if any, knowledge of their qualifications to instruct, and send them to the Sup. School Committee on the morning the school is to commence, to be examined, or allowing them to commence their schools without examination, and be examined, or not, as may suit their convenience, places the Sup. School Committee in such an embarrassing position, that they cannot well do their duty to all parties without generating trouble in the districts, and engendering ill feelings towards the Prudential Committees, and between the two committees themselves. However feasible the theory may seem, the practical working of it is decidedly unfavorable, impolitic and unjust.

In the opinion of your Committee, the system ought to be so changed, that the examination, engagement and employment of teachers should be in the hands of one committee, who should attend to the labor for the whole town; so that, before any one is engaged as a teacher, the committee may have fair and ample opportunity of learning something about what the qualifications may be for such a position before it is occupied. Under the present system there is a measure of injustice done to the young man or woman who is desirous of teaching, and knows not but that they shall be permitted to teach until the time of the commencement of the school, when they may find themselves disappointed in their expectations, and the season for engagement past, And hence it is that your committee have felt constrained to yield, to some degree, to the wishes and expectations of the persons engaged to teach, and to the feelings of those who engaged them. Whereas, if they had known in sufficient season—that is, before engagement was made they would have rejected some applications which they suffer to go. And your committee found it next to impossible to avoid it, under the working of the present system are looded nonemod the to guident

Laboring under these difficulties, your Committee have sanctioned as teachers some applicants who, under another system, they would have rejected. This fact will account for some of the evils which, are incident to our schools generally, and which have been incurred in a few instances in our town the past year. Your Committee are aware that such a procedure will be condemned by many persons; but yet they have endeavored to be as faithful to all, parties concerned as they could They have felt deeply interested for the successful moral and educational progress, of the scholars, and the prosperity of the schools. Education prevents crime To neglect, therefore, the proper supervision of the teachers and schools, is to neglect a duty for which no subsequent regrets can atone. Within the limits of their responsibility, consequently they feel free to say, they have done the best they could for the interests of the schools of the districts, and they feel relieved from the responsibilities of those whose duty it is made to be to engage and employ the teachers for their children.

But let it be observed here, that however much the principle adopted by your Committee may be condemned, it has ever been, and it ever will and must be, the principle adopted for practice, so long as the present school system continues. For supposing the standard of qualifications for teachers had been placed so high by your Committee, that one half of the applicants had been rejected, and the Prudential Committees had not known but that their engagements were suitable in the estimation of the Sup. School Committee, until the morning of the commence. ment of their schools, how difficult and perplexing would their positions to their districts have been rendered. They must now seek new candidates, who would be more likely to be unqualified persons than otherwise, because they might be the rejected applicants from other towns. Thus a little, and but a little, of the difficulty in the practical working of our common school system may be seen.

school Books.

Your Committee are well aware of the troublesome, expensive and unnecessary annoyances of "School Book Exchanges." Most of all is the expensive feature of them, and they deserve much of the condemnation which they get. This your Committee have well considered. They found, as they entered upon their duties, a great variety of text-books in all of the districts-often three, and sometimes four different Readers for the same grade of scholars. Almost in every district of school there were found two sets of Readers for the pupils who should have been in one class. And not only in Readers, but precisely the same feature presented itself in the Arithmetic and Grammar, and also Spelling classes, What else could your Committee do, as men faithful to their duties, but reduce these different text books from many to one, in order to secure uniformity in the several schools, prevent the necessity of procuring new books when removing from one district to another, and save the time both of teachers and pupils, that the term of schooling might be as profitable as possible? In conformity with this principle, they have endeavored to make that text book which was most generally used in town the standard book. And thus they have made almost uniform the Reading and Arithmetical text-books. As to the Grammar, they found the same feature in the schools, and hope the many different ones, almost all of them badly worn, have given place to one which may long remain a standard. The text-books thus introduced are-1. The series of Progressive Readers; 2, The Greenleaf series of Arithmetics; 3, Brown's Grammar; and 4, The Progresive Speller. These series of textbooks your Committee would suggest be adopted for the town for a term of years-for at least five years; for if a book is fit to be introduced at all, it is fit to remain certainly for that term.

OBSTACLES TO SUCCESS IN SCHOOLS.

The obstacles which are found to work most seriously to the disadvantage of the schools, are, in the first place, unqualified teachers, to which allusion has been made. This is the most serious. We do not mean, by want of qualifications, a lack of scholarship, merely; but what we mean is, the deficiencies in the refinements and courtesies of life. It is true of many well educated men and women, that they are sadly deficient in those qualifications which fit one for the school-room, and they ought never to enter it. There are influences in the school-room which it is impossible not to feel, and, though subtle in themselves and difficult to describe, yet they are a true revelation of the qualifications of the teacher, and the criterion of judgment for the visiter as to the good or bad results of his or her labors. There is an accomplishment, essential for success, which always shows itself in the intercourse of the teacher and pupils with each, other, If wanting, however well qualified the teacher may be in mere intellectual attainments, the school will be a failure. If possessed, it will be successful, and the more so, if associated with high educational qualifications. We should have teachersmale and female-for a service so important as the training of our children—who are accomplished, and refined, and worthy, and who have higher aims and, nobler aspirations and purposes than mere intellectual display, or the remu-We should secure the neration for the services rendered. best teachers, morally and intellectually, as far as possible, and, when once obtained, secure them for succeeding terms, by increasing their wages, if necessary. The cheapest articles are always found to be the dearest, and the dearest the cheapest. The better the character of the living example is, that we place before our children, in educational attainments, in social refinements and pleasantness, and in moral accomplishments, in the persons and intercourse of teachers for them, the more profitably will money be expended, and the better satisfaction will the districts receive.

The second obstacle to success in the schools, is the irregular attendance of the pupils. There is but one remedy for this and that is, regular attendance. This regular attendance should be required and enforced by parents. This ought to be secured, or the pupil should be shut out from the school; for a great injury is done to the pupil's mind, who is suffered to be irregular, while the routine of a school is often much disturbed, and its profit to others hazarded, by his appearance or non-appearance at pleasure. The third obstacle is the miserable school-house, the dark, gloomy, repulsive, sepulchral, poverty-stricken schoolhouse. Your Committee are proud of several houses recently built, or remodelled, with modern improvements, and the districts and the town may well be proud of them. We would advise all the other districts to follow the noble example set them in these newly built and newly repaired school houses, as seen in the Gonic, the Meaderboro', the Louis McDuffee, and the Flagg Districts, and also the Poor Farm District. the it becomes it will be a felling to the fooder out will be at. The schools and their teachers, with their several characters, are as follows: south now exalt guilded doing to he

District No. 1 (Isaac Libbey) Teacher in summer, Miss Ellen F. Wentworth; in winter, Josiah B. Sanborn. The summer term was very successful. The winter term began and promised well, but closed unseasonably in consequence of the sickness of the teacher, and hence was not seen by the committee.

District No. 1—(Jesse Horn.) Teacher in summer, Miss Sarah A. Varney; in winter, Miss Susan Tebbetts. The teachers were interested, and labored industriously for the progress of the scholars, and their efforts were successful, though a more marked improvement was visible at the close of the second term than the first.

District No. 3 (Louis McDuffee.) Teacher in summer, Miss Marianna Sanborn; in winter Charles W. Yeaton. They both did well for the district and for the pupils.

District No. 4—(Pickering's Crossing.) Teacher in summer, Miss Martha T. Jenness; in winter, J. D. Thompson. These were both very pleasant and successful schools.

District No. 5—(Jas. Y. Hayes.) Teacher in summer, Miss Ruth A. Ham; in winter, — Buzzell. Good schools both terms.

District No. 6—(Agron Flagg.) Teacher in summer, Miss Melinda J. Foss; in winter, James J. Meader. The summer term was unsuccessful—the teacher being inadequate to the task. The winter term was a very profitable one:

District No. 7—(Gonic) Teacher in summer, Miss Lucy A. McDuffee; in winter, S. S. Caswell. The summer term of this school commenced very favorably, but was not visited by the committee again, as they were not notified of its close. The accomplishments and qualifications of the instructors were of the best character. The winter term was a very profitable one.

District No. 8-(Plains.) In this district there were five schools taught during the year, two terms each. In the brick building there were three schools, one on Wakefield street, and one on Farmington road above the bridge. The High School was taught by Mr. H. M. Sanborn, who was exceedingly popular as a teacher, and not only won the affections of the pupils generally, but was regarded by the majority of the committee as eminently successful.

The Intermediate School was taught by Miss Mary Ann Brown: Her success was very satisfactory—she being both faithful and industrious.

The Primary School, taught in the brick building, was under the care of Miss Anna F. Chapman, whose school the committee regard as a model in many respects.

Primary School on Wakefield street was taught by Miss Sarah F. Mathes. This school was well taught and showed a commendable degree of advancement. The teacher, however, the committee think is better fitted for a school of a higher grade, both, in qualification and method of teaching.

Primary School above the bridge was taught by Miss Sarah W. Pray—an experienced teacher—whose efforts for the advancement of the pupils were untiring, and the success good, considering the obstacles to be overcome.

District No. 9—(Adams' Corner.) Taught in summer by Miss Sophia O. Hewes, in winter by Noah Sanborn—both of whom gave good satisfaction, having had much experience in teaching.

District No 10—(Poor Farm). Teacher in summer Miss S. B. Waldron, in winter by Miss Hannah J. Varney. Both of the teachers were interested in their duties and the schools were profitable.

District No. 11—(Wm. Whilehouse) This school was taught both terms by Miss Jennie S. Evans. A commendable advance by the pupils was the result of the teacher's labors—but the house is in a sad condition.

District No. 12-(Meaderboro'.) Taught in summer

by Miss Harriet Canney—in winter by Mr. J. O. Stanton.

This school in summer was a failure, the teacher being inadequate to the task; but in winter the school was very successful, having been one of the best conducted in town.

District No. 13—(Moses Page.) Teacher in summer Miss M. Carrie Downs, in winter by George G. Harriman. The Committee were not notified of the close of the summer term, and hence cannot judge of the progress made The winter term was a good one.

DISTRICT No. 14—(James Brown.) Taught in summer by Miss Eliza J. Day, in winter by Amanda S. Ham.—These schools were both good ones—the latter in a marked degree.

DISTRICT No. 15—(Chestnut Hills.) Teacher in summer Miss Susan Tebbets in winter J. S. Harriman. The summer term was closed without the committee's being notified—but the teacher's success in another district lead us to infer that the school was successful. The winter was quite successful.

DISTRICT No. 16. - United with Milton.

District No. 17—(Silas Hussey.) Teacher for both terms, Miss Augusta Dame. Good satisfaction was given—but the success of the school was in a measure impeded by the sickness of the scholars.

District No. 18—(Bidfield Meserve.) This school was taught both terms by Miss , and when first visited by the committee promised well—but having been suspended for a season, the committee had no opportunity of visiting it a second time before making their report.

District No. 19—(Shorey's Mills.) Taught in Summer by Miss Helen S. Horne. in Winter by Mr.——Hilton The summer school was the first the instructress ever taught; but her success was good and her labors profitable. The teacher for the winter term was santioned by the Committee with some degree of reluctance. The school was but five weeks in length, which was too short to be of much if any profit. The Committee would advise that a female teacher be employed where the funds are insufficient for the employment for a longer term.

District No. 20.—Taught both terms by Miss Julia A. Hayes, who made her little school both pleasant and profitable.

We have to complain of the tardiness of the teachers in returning their Registers to us, and of their incompleteness when received. Very few have been returned fully, or even satisfactorily made out, and some are culpably deficient in the statistical information required to be given to the Committee, to enable them to make a full and true report to the State. We hope teachers will be more particular in the future.

Some of the schools have made a commendable educational progress; while others, and especially those where the children have been imperfectly provided for, and where the school house accommodations have been heglected, the advancement has not been so well. Some of the school-houses are unfit for the purposes of education. No valuable educational progress can be made, or expected, where the people neglect to provide suitable, and neat, and properly furnished houses for the accommodation of the scholars, and take an interest themselves in the education of their children. The teachers in all, however, have shown a commendable zeal in studying and laboring to qualify themselves for the duties devolving on them, and to morally and educationally benefit the pupils and second the efforts of the committee. When the teachers carry ever with them the consciousness that there is no higher department of useful labor here, than that of giving direction, or strengthening in a right direction, the opening and developing minds around them wand none others should be employed to teach our children-many, perhaps, of the embarrassing and opposing influences of illy provided school-rooms may be neutralized. But this is no ground for neglecting the place where our little ones are living, and living to study and prepare for the responsibilities of mature life, for six or seven hours in every day. The more attractive and pleasant the school houses are made to be, the better the moral and intellectual proficiency of those taught in them,

The accompanying tables will be found to possess valuable information, and cannot fail to be of interest as a statistical exhibit of the schools and pupils, and of the moneys provided for their support. They have been prepared with much care

Permit us to add, in closing our report, and closing, also, this year of our superintendency, that the schools generally have prespered. Our action has not been marred by any sectional, sectarian, or political interests. We have had no interest to serve but the best interests of the several schools. And with this feeling, we respectfully submit our report.

WILLIAM HEWES, JAS. H. EDGERLY, Superintending JAMES M. PALMER, Committee.

We hereby certify that we have examined the foregoing accounts of the Town of Rochoster; for the year ending March 1, 1863, and find the same well vouched and correctly cast, and find due the Town from the Selectmen, Ninety-one dollars and seventy-seven cents.

JOHN McDUFFEE, JOHN W. FURBER, Auditors.

Note.—The Selectmen recommend the selling of the growth on the Town Farm and of laying out the money or such part of it as the town think proper, in purchasing a wood lot, for the reason that there is but a small portion of pasturing on the farm and it is quite necessary that there should be more cows kept on the Farm than what is now kept had all of the course of the farm than what is now kept had all of the course of the farm than the course of
